

“Immigration 101”

Thursday March 18th 7:00—8:30 pm
Riverland Community College, Austin Campus
West Building  Room A237

“Immigration 101” is a fun, interactive workshop that provides participants with an overview of United States immigration law. The audience will be introduced to basic concepts of immigration law, including refugee and asylum processes, family-based immigration, employment-based immigration, and deportation. The presentation will also examine the impact of U.S. immigration law on the human rights of immigrants and present accurate information about some of the hot button issues surrounding immigration. Participants will have a chance to explore their own opinions on immigration and on the best way to create a fair and humane immigration system. Join The Advocates for Human Rights and the Austin Human Rights Commission for an informative evening discussing this hot topic in the news and in our community.

WORKSHOP PRESENTERS

For over 25 years, The Advocates for Human Rights’ innovative programming has touched the lives of refugees and immigrants, women, ethnic and religious minorities, children, and other marginalized communities whose rights are at risk.

PANELISTS

Dan Donnelly, immigration attorney
Kirsten Lindbloom, Canadian immigrant to the U.S.
The Advocates for Human Rights

Event sponsored by the Austin Human Rights Commission and APEX Austin